

InSPiReD COPD

The inSPiReD COPD study is a research study designed to learn about patient and clinician beliefs surrounding oxygen use and create communication tools to help facilitate communication between patients and clinicians.

Dr. Jerry Krishnan is a doctor and lead researcher for this study at the University of Illinois at Chicago. UIC is collaborating with Johns Hopkins University on this study.

What can I expect if I join the study?

You are being asked to participate in a research study. Research studies answer important questions that might help change or improve the way we do things in the future. If you agree to participate, you will be asked to complete an interview and provide information about yourself and your beliefs about oxygen use.

1. ENROLL IN THE STUDY

 About 15 minutes

We will tell you more about the study, ask you a few questions to see if you are a good fit, and ask for your permission to participate,

2. ANSWER QUESTIONS

 About 60 minutes

We will ask you to share information about you and your thoughts about oxygen use.

3. IN THE FUTURE

Time varies based on your preference

We may reach out to see if you are interested in helping to develop communication tools or learning about other studies.

Risks

A risk of this research is a loss of privacy (revealing to others that you are taking part in this study) or confidentiality (revealing information about you to others to whom you have not given permission to see this information). We will do everything we can to protect your health information. Your information will only be shared only with registry research team.

You may get tired or uncomfortable when answering questions. You can decline any questions you don't want to answer.

There may be risks from the study that are not known at this time.

Benefits

Being in this study will not help you directly. We hope that your participation in the study may benefit other people in the future.

Your participation in this research study is voluntary and will not affect your care at UI Health or your relationship with UIC.
